The PUR Packet developed by Proctor & Gamble

The PUR packet turns 10 liters of dirty, potentially deadly water into clean and drinkable water.

10 cents = 1 packet

1 packet = 10 liters of clean water

$1.00 = clean water for 50 days

$30.00 = clean water for a family for a year

over 3 billion liters of water have been cleaned so far...

Dear Global Water,

My classmates and I have worked really hard because we had to run for one hour and thirty minutes, and we raised just over eight hundred dollars. When I was running it was fun, I thought of it like a competition so I worked extra hard. I raised only eight dollars but every dollar helps a bit. To me it was like a great experience of how people wake up and carry dirty water back and forth every day. When I was running my fifteenth lap, my legs started to hurt, but I said to myself my feet having pain was nothing compared to drinking dirty water and possibly dying. I hope all this money will go towards digging more wells so people will get cleaner water. I really hope all this money will help someone.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey

Delta Kappa Gamma Partnerships with UNICEF

In 1996 the Gambia Project, which assisted girls to remain in school by providing funds for their education, was launched.

In November 1999 we joined in the Pro-Maya Project to assist children and their schools in Chiapas, Mexico.

In July 2003 the Society was invited to support a partnership for teacher education in Afghanistan.

By June 2009 the final total raised for the Afghanistan project alone was $203,124, and altogether members have raised over $273,000 in support of the Gambia, Pro Maya and Afghanistan projects.

We have now become part of the Schools for Africa project.
